

Yellow Shawl Project

Tuesday, Nov. 10, 2015

5:30-7:30 p.m. | Nimkee Public Health Kitchen

Please come, and we will help you make your own!

**All materials will be provided.*

The yellow shawl with white fringe represents breastfeeding awareness. Yellow represents the first colostrum, and the white fringe represents the mother's milk flowing.

We encourage mothers to give their children a great start to raising healthy, Anishinaabe children. To start them off wrapped in warmth, comfort, and protection to ensure a great start to a good life with the gift of our first traditional food: Human milk.

- Activities for children
- Dinner provided
- Topics: SIDS and Breastfeeding
