"The Ziibiwing Center acquires culturally relevant materials that support the Saginaw Chippewa Indian Tribe of Michigan and the Great Lakes Anishinaabek. Acquisitions provide a means of strengthening the collection and enhancing its value for exhibition, education and research. Our vast collection of documentary and cultural materials is often referred to as the heart of our organization. Through the generosity of the tribal community the collection has grown considerably. Recent community donations will be on display. Come and marvel at the family treasures that have been accepted as additions to the permanent collection."
