And the winner is...

Marlon Brando's name was called as the winner of the 1973 Oscar for the Best Actor in a Leading Role, but it was 26-year old Apache and Yaqui Indigenous actress and activist, Sacheen Littlefeather, who stepped onto the stage and into the history books when she gave the first ever political speech at an Academy Awards presentation.

In protest of the way Indians were portrayed in Hollywood and in support of Wounded Knee, Marlon Brando boycotted the award presentation and asked Sacheen to go as his proxy and refuse the Oscar. After 45 years of silence, Sacheen tells the story of the moment that changed her life and made Hollywood history.
