ANISHINABE EDUCATION: COMMUNITY RELATIONS - COMMUNITY VOICES

MARCH 10-12, 2016

Zibiiwing Center of Anishinabe Culture & Lifeways Saginaw Chippewa Indian Tribe

Our goal is to provide leadership, which will foster continued improvement of academic achievement and to address school-related issues that affect educational outcomes of Native youth in Michigan.

JAY ROSNER, Executive Director PRINCETON REVIEW FOUNDATION

Advocate for improving educational outcomes for Native youth through helping Native educators better understand high-stakes testing, and by sharing strategies for assisting students to be successful.

The Foundation collaborates with such organizations as the Cherokee Nation Foundation, College and Graduate Horizons, the American Indian Graduate Center and Spirit of EAGLES of the Mayo Clinic. Jay has done numerous presentations at educational and legal conferences, and has conducted workshops for university undergraduate and graduate/professional admissions staffs. He earned a Bachelor of Arts from Penn and a Juris Doctorate from Widener Law, and is most proud of his two daughters.
