

AUTHOR TALK PRESENTATION:

Community, Power, and the Search for Indigenous Identity

with Award-Winning Journalist Joseph Lee

Wednesday, Nov. 5, 2025

2 p.m. | Saginaw Chippewa Tribal Library

5805 E. Pickard, Mt. Pleasant MI 48858

Register online at:

<https://libraryc.org/crdl/99972/register>

Register now to receive an email reminder, submit any questions you might have for the author, or to receive a link to watch at home.

•Refreshments provided

For more information, please contact:

Anne Heidemann at 989-317-4470 or AHeidemann@sagchip.org

Saginaw Chippewa
Tribal Libraries

You're invited to learn from journalist and author Joseph Lee as he chats online with us about his stirring memoir, Nothing More of This Land: Community, Power, and the Search for Indigenous Identity. In it, he explores Indigenous identity in proximity to land that serves as an iconic vacationing spot for the wealthy—the “island paradise” Martha's Vineyard.

Growing up Aquinnah Wampanoag, Joseph Lee grappled with what it means to be an Indigenous person in the world today, especially as tribal land, culture, and community face new threats. Starting with the story of his own tribe, which is from the iconic Martha's Vineyard, Lee tackles key questions around Indigenous identity and the stubborn legacy of colonialism.

Lee weaves his own story—and that of his family—with conversations with Indigenous leaders, artists, and scholars from around the world about everything from culture and language to climate change and the politics of belonging. As he unpacks the meaning of Indigenous identity, Lee grants us a new understanding of our nation and what a better community might look like.

Saginaw Chippewa Indian Tribe of Michigan

“Working Together for Our Future”

7500 Soaring Eagle Blvd.
Mount Pleasant, MI 48858
989-775-4000
www.sagchip.org