Aanii Maggie Jackson Nda'zhinikaaz. Saginaw Chippewa Indian Tribal Reservation Nda'jibaa, mukwa o'ododem. Hi, my name is Maggie Jackson. Born to the Saginaw Chippewa tribal Reservation, and my clan is that of the bear. First off, I would like to thank Seventh Generation for giving me the opportunity to teach my craft. Second, I am going to introduce myself. I am the granddaughter of Delmar Jackson Sr.—baa (Karen(and Julius Peters—baa (Helen). I have been coming to Seventh Generation since I was a Kwezins. I was told as a little girl that shells we will be working with had the ability to protect and heal your spirit. What I will be sharing in this class is how to use dentalium shells in your earrings and jewelry. I am self-taught and innovative in finding what makes these pieces shine. I hope you all enjoy this class. Mino a yaan miinwaa naak do wen di sen, be well and take care of yourself chii Miigwetch
