

OVERDOSE Awareness — & — Remembrance Day

Monday, Aug. 31, 2026

1-3 p.m. | Broadway Park

2451 Nish-Na-Be-Anong Dr., Mt. Pleasant, MI 48858

- ▶ Honor your loved ones: bring in pictures/memories to post on our display board during the event.
- ▶ Speaker panel will share their stories, insights and be available for Q&A.
- ▶ Food will be provided
- ▶ Supplies will be provided for honoring lost loved ones

For more information, please contact:

Behavioral Health Staff at Prevention@sagchip.org

Keynote Speaker:

Nadia Ashtari

Nadia Ashtari is a Health Educator with the Central Michigan District Health Department and has worked in the substance use disorder field for the past eight years. She also teaches public health courses at Central Michigan University, where she enjoys helping educate the next generation of public health professionals.

Nadia's passion for this work is both professional and personal. Inspired by her experiences of loving people affected by substance use disorder, she is committed to reducing stigma, addressing health disparities, and expanding education, prevention, and support for individuals and families. Through strong partnerships in Isabella County and with the Saginaw Chippewa Indian Tribe, Nadia works to build healthier communities and promote hope, compassion, and recovery. Nadia strives to remind others that together we can make a difference in preventing overdose and supporting those impacted by substance use.

Q&A Panel Speakers:

Jeremy Bennett and Scott Saboo

Saginaw Chippewa Indian Tribe of Michigan
“Working Together for Our Future”

7500 Soaring Eagle Blvd.
Mount Pleasant, MI 48858
989-775-4000
www.sagchip.org